SECRETARY

John Deutch told me that a short note of this type from you to him directly, rather than through Secretary Schlesinger, would be desirable and ease the bureaucratic wheels.

Director would feel better if the invitation went to Schlesinger and requested Deutch

STAT

Dear John:

A project on technology trends which could affect the US or Soviet military for the rest of this century is being carried out at my request. A Steering Group for the project composed of [redacted] was formed and held its first meeting on 16 November. During that meeting the need for a top level person in the energy field became evident and the Steering Group unanimously requested I ask you to become a member of the group.

Therefore, I request that you accept my invitation to join the Steering Group of this very important project. [redacted] tell me they have discussed the details of the project with you.
